

EL PASO COUNTY TO GET THREE NEW SCHOOL HOUSES THIS YEAR

EXTENSIVE improvements which will help El Paso maintain its reputation of having a rural school system among the best in the state will be made in the county school districts this spring and summer.

Three new school buildings and probably four, will be constructed within the next few months and will be ready for occupancy this fall in El Paso county. The basement to another school will be completed soon and turned into a domestic science department.

Purchase Five Acres

Four acres of land on the main county road, between the two roads leading from the main road to Clint, have been purchased and upon the site a new brick school house will be erected. The new building will cost about $12,000. Plans have been drawn and work on the foundation is expected to begin right away.

Money for the new building at Clint is in the bank. It was provided by a bond issue for $17,000 which carried last year. The bonds were sold to the state.

The Clint school will have six rooms, four to be finished immediately. It will be built on the cluster style of architecture and will have a court in the center.

The other two buildings will be in the Fabens district, one in the Cuadrilla neighborhood and the other one at Terrell. Each will cost about $10,000, will contain two rooms at first, but will be constructed so other rooms can be added from time to time without interfering with the plan of architecture.

The school in the Cuadrilla neighborhood will accommodate all Mexicans in that vicinity who show a desire to attend American schools. The school at Terrell will accommodate both American and Mexican children of that vicinity.

New School Needed

A new school at Tornillo is needed largely on account of the influx of farmers to the lower valley. A number of farmers are settling there, being drawn to that locality by cotton farming possibilities of the land which have recently been proclaimed by agriculturists.

Plans are also on foot to build a new school at Yuleta, in the upper valley. A new building is needed in this locality, also largely on account of the influx of farmers to this district. Definite arrangements for the building, however, have not been made.

The basement at the Yuleta school, which runs the length of the school building, is being completed. It will be ready for occupancy within a short time. When completed, the basement will be turned over to the domestic science classes.

County Announces Plans

Plans for the improvements to be made on the El Paso county school system were announced Thursday by county school superintendent Miss Mrs. Winkler. They have been agreed and passed upon by the trustees of each district.

Trustees of the Fabens district, in which the Cuadrilla and the Terrell school will be built, are: A. Boone, Pat O'Connell and L. J. Fry.

Burglars Loot Safe; Bonds And Stamps Torn Up

Wanton destruction of $1100 in Liberty bonds and $200 in war savings stamps, marked a robbery perpetrated Wednesday night at the office and work shop of R. E. McKee, a contractor, at 815 East San Antonio street.

The thieves gained entrance by breaking a heavy door. They removed a large safe, a typewriter and a check protecting machine from the office to a plot of ground nearby. There the safe was broken open. It did not contain money, but the thieves destroyed papers inside by tearing them to bits. The typewriter and check machine were taken by the thieves and the wrecked safe left.

Police believe the robbery was perpetrated by persons who did not know the value of the bonds and stamps. Five men were required to replace the safe in the building from which it was taken. Automobile tools were found near the wrecked safe.

From time to time Miss Winkler reminded Mr. Loomis of his promise. They decided that Mr. Loomis should give the land for the school to the county school superintendent to make her car do "house" in, as Mr. Loomis lived up to the bargain.

'TWO WEEKS' IS CLEVER PICTURE

The El Paso theater is presenting another of Constance Talmadge's clever pictures. This picture is most clever. "Two Weeks" as Ben Leach said in his advertisement, "is just enough to be a picture."

The story is extremely funny. If you wonder what a girl can do to the lives of three hardened, cynical old bachelors, and if you wonder what three hardened, cynical old bachelors can do to the life of a girl, then you must see this picture.

It is the romance of a chorus girl. The chorus girl decided to have a career, and to have her name popularized on Broadway was the height of her ambition until she found the three bachelors in this picture. They are three decided types and typical of each type.

The picture is set in California and all the beauty of that wonderful state is in the picture. It is a picture of her ambition until she found the three bachelors in this picture. They are three decided types and typical of each type.

Packer Assails U.S. Regulation Of Industries

Washington, D. C., March 4.—Opposition to pending legislation for control of the packing industry was expressed here today by Frank T. Fuller, president of the Iowa Packing commission, who described himself as an independent packer.

He said no government commission and broad powers to regulate the packing business as the result would be to take the industry out of the hands of the packers, large and small, by a multitude of orders and regulations.

Fuller, he said, should be aided by laws abolishing special privileges now enjoyed by the packers of the industry. Under railroad administration orders, he declared, the Chicago packers are being forced to accept a price of meat equal to that of the year, or four percent of his company's sales.

Denying charges of other witnesses that the packers' practices had reduced stock raising, Mr. Fuller said the big packers had developed live-stock and poultry growing and packing, and that they had acquired stockyards and many other enterprises.

WOOD ALCOHOL CAUSES DEATH

W. L. Hilschberger, a painter, died at a local hospital Wednesday from the effects of wood alcohol poisoning contracted Christmas. He is said to be the first local victim of wood alcohol poisoning, although health authorities here declare that liquor squatted into El Paso from Mexico often contains the poison.

City detectives on Thursday received a telegram signed by C. L. Grant, of Washington, D. C., stating that arrangements are being made to ship the body to Washington.

He asked that the detectives take charge of the personal property of Hilschberger, and hold it pending instructions from his disposal. The body is being held at a local morgue pending instructions for shipping.

Authorities declare that the sale of liquor containing wood alcohol is causing an alarming proportion here. An effort was made during Hilschberger's illness to persuade him to stop drinking the liquor, but he refused, saying that he drank the liquor with friends Christmas day and that he did not know where it was obtained.

Blackheads are a confession

Blackheads are caused by excessive oil collecting dirt in the pores of the skin. Their presence is a confession that you are using the wrong method of cleansing for your type of skin.

To cleanse thoroughly skins liable to this disgusting trouble, use the following special treatment. Apply hot cloths to the face until the skin is reddened. Then with a rough washcloth work up a heavy lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap and rub it into the pores thoroughly, always with an upward and outward motion. Rinse with clear hot water, then with cold—the colder the better. If possible, rub your face for thirty seconds with a piece of ice. Dry carefully.

To remove blackheads already formed, substitute a flesh brush for the washcloth in the treatment above. Then protect the fingers with a handkerchief and press out the blackheads.

Keep your skin free of blackheads by the above treatment and gain the clear attractive skin that the regular use of Woodbury's brings.

In support of their contention, they point to a "petition" signed by members of the student body, requesting that the heads of the signers be cut off.

When the "petition" was circulated explanation was made that it asked for a holiday on Washington's birthday. The "petition" was worded: "A holiday has been granted on February 22 in commemoration of our first president. This could be fittingly observed on the campus.
